Information for authors

1)   Linguistica Copernicana is an annual journal, printed at the Faculty of Languages at the Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń, which publishes papers on natural language, encompassing all branches of linguistics: general and specific, synchronic and historical. The articles are accepted in Polish and other Slavic languages, as well as in English, German and French.

Linguistica Copernicana is open to all linguists, regardless of nationality, affiliation, age, or stage of academic career. The decisive criterion for paper acceptance is their content quality. The submissions undergo blind reviews by academics who remain outside of any employment relations. Also, the reviewers do not know the identity of authors they review. For detailed information on rules of review visit the journal's website: www.linguistica.umk.pl.

2)   We kindly request the authors to send submissions only in digital format, i.e. two files: one *.doc and one *.pdf file. Authors who use special fonts in texts are asked to attach them to the submitted papers. The articles are to be send as email attachments to lincop@umk.pl.

3) The length of the submitted papers should not exceed 14 pages (including the summary, footnotes and references) of A4 format (circa 25 000 characters including spaces, according to regular MS Word statistics).
The length of the review should not exceed 7 pages of A4 format (circa 12 000 characters including spaces).

4) Name and surname of the author
The name and last name of the author, the email address and affiliation should be included in the upper-left corner of the text (formatting: Times New Roman 12p.).

5) Title of the paper: centered, bold, font size 12p.

6) Keywords provided in the language of the paper as well as in English: 4-6, placed under the title of the article, separated with semicolons, justified.

7) Text
Font: Times New Roman 12 points.
Line spacing: 1.5 lines.
Margins: left margin 3 cm, the remaining margins 2.5 cm.
Tab: 1.0 cm.
Justified.

All words, phrases and sentences discussed in the paper, as well as all utterances in foreign languages need to be given in italics.
Lexical sense explications are to be given in apostrophes.
Quotations need to be given in quotation marks.
In-text emphasis is to be given with extended letter-spacing.
We kindly request authors not to use spaces to align text, not to leave empty lines, not to hyphenate text, and not to use any kind of special formatting.

8) Summaries

We kindly request the authors to supplement each paper with a title in English and a summary in English, as well as in the language of the article (up to 900 characters; about half a page). The summary should be placed after the references. Reviews do not require a summary.

9) Charts, tables, etc. should be attached as separate files. Their appropriate location is to be clearly indicated in the text.

Within a text, continuous numbering applies to charts, tables, etc.

Descriptions of charts, tables, etc. should take the following form:

Source: author's original design (placed under the table)

10) Notes (formatting: Times New Roman 10 points, line spacing 1.5, indication in superscript) are to be provided as footnotes, not endnotes. Footnotes should follow continuous numbering within the entire text. We kindly ask authors to limit footnotes in favor of in-text quotations, following the convention proposed by R. Laskowski (1998: 225-226).

11) References

Authors' names are to be provided in small capitals. Names of authors, as well as titles of books and papers in Slavic languages that use Cyrilic script, should be given in their original written form. If a given publication has a DOI (Digital Object Identifier), it should be provided at the end of an entry (whether a given publication has a DOI can be established at http://www.crossref.org/guestquery/).
